Reed,

We are working to identify appropriate designees and will let you know as soon as we can who those will be, as well as their availability both toward the end of next week, and the week after.

As I indicated during the hearing yesterday, we stand by the reasonableness of the searches that we have made to date. We do not understand the court to have ordered us to conduct further searches, and thus we do not plan to conduct further searches. The general parameters of our searches for materials related to voter fraud are described in footnote three of the United States' filing at ECF No. 390. To the extent that you have particular questions about specific requests for production, we are happy to answer those.

Thanks,
Anna
